

Sponsor Prospectus – The Canadian Biomaterial Society Conference May 21-23, 2025, Kingston Ontario

Come meet future collaborators and highly skilled graduate trainees with expertise in biomedical engineering, materials sciences, and translational medicine at the Canadian Biomaterials Society (CBS) Conference in May 2025. Biomaterials is a multidisciplinary field - companies with varied application platforms and services including materials characterization, pharmaceuticals, regenerative medicine, medical devices, and imaging technologies have been drawn to this meeting and the deep talent pool and collaborative research opportunities that it offers. The next page outlines the different ways you can get involved!

- The Annual CBS Conference will be held at Queen’s University in Kingston, Ontario from May 21st to May 23rd, 2025.
- We expect 200-250 participants including trainees, professors, clinicians, and industrial partners from across Canada (and beyond).
- Networking will be facilitated through meals, coffee breaks, and social events, as well as a new “meet a mentor from industry”, where trainees can schedule meetings with interested industrial attendees.
- Through oral presentations, the poster reception, and the annual Gala, we will bring researchers and industry together.
- Exhibitor time will be over two full days (May 21 and 22), hosted in the same location as lunch and coffee breaks to maximize the opportunity to interact with attendees.

What is the CBS?

The Canadian Biomaterials Society (CBS) is an incorporated, not-for-profit organization dedicated to the development of biomaterials science, technology, and education in Canadian universities, industry, and government since 1973. CBS is a member of the international community of biomaterials societies as represented by the International Union of Societies of Biomaterials Science and Engineering (IUS-BSE). Every year, CBS hosts a national conference. The conference is an enriching experience highlighting novel materials, innovative solutions to medical issues, and innovative technologies and we aim to bridge the gap between research and industry.

Sponsorship and exhibitors

Sponsors and exhibitors have multiple ways to get involved with the exhibition space giving ample time for networking. We will provide the following based on the amount of support.

Sponsorship of Specific Events and Awards

Alternatively, by sponsoring an event or award, your company will be directly acknowledged during the event (or award ceremony), on our website, in the program.

Gala $7000 - The CBS annual Gala is one of the most anticipated events of the conference. By sponsoring the Gala, not only will you be supporting one of the most well-attended events, you will also have recognition through acknowledgement on the tickets, prominent signs at the Gala, a verbal acknowledgment during the Gala, and recognition on the website and in the program.

Sponsored Keynote Speaker $2500: We will have a few keynotes invited to the event to enrich research discussions and broaden networking. Through sponsoring a renowned keynote speaker, you will be acknowledged with signage during the keynote presentation, in addition to recognition on the conference website and in the program.

Sponsored session or coffee break $1500: We will host several coffee breaks to provide much needed energy to all of our participants. Sponsors of coffee breaks will be acknowledged with signage during the break (near the much-anticipated snacks and coffee), in addition to recognition on the conference website and in the program.

Student/trainee awards $400-1000: Our trainees are the heart of our ever-growing society and recognizing their achievements is a core-value of the CBS. Through sponsoring an award, you will be recognized during the Award Ceremony on the last day of the conference in addition to recognition on the conference website and in the program.
